

I am distressed to hear that there is an attempt by the NAB to silence the Traffic and Weather stations on XM Radio. Since I pay for these services, I do not understand the objections of the NAB. If they provided a decent service in these areas, they would not have to worry about the competition. They Don't. It's that simple. So I gladly pay for the privilege of getting good service. The legislature is supposed to enact laws that protect citizens. I certainly don't need protection from a superior service (XM Radio) that I willingly pay for! I also subscribe to satellite television. Will I soon have to write another letter to defend my rights against the national network television broadcasters?
